Give Back to Your Library and Your Community

By purchasing a membership or donating to the Friends, you invest in our library and our community.

Your contributions directly support special events and library programs, new additions to library collections, technology upgrades, continuing education for library staff, and more.

In addition to supporting the library, becoming a Friend gets you:

- Coupons for Friends Book Sales (including our ongoing, in-library sales!)
- Library fine forgiveness up to $10
- Free admission to Friends events
- A voice and a vote in Friends business
- Eligibility to join Virginia Credit Union
- A chance to meet other Friends
- Opportunities to make a difference in our community

Who are the Friends?

The Friends of the Chesterfield County Public Library is a volunteer-run, community-based 501 (c)(3) nonprofit that supports the Chesterfield Public Library.

Since 1970, the Friends have relied on membership dues, donations, and volunteer power to meet the library's needs. Whether you volunteer with us, buy books from our book sales, give during our fundraisers, or simply purchase an annual membership, your contributions help improve our library and support library staff.

What Friends Do

Check out some of the ways the Friends support the library!

Fundraise by selling books and merchandise! We accept book and multimedia donations every Wednesday at all library locations.

Fulfill items from library wish lists, such as sensory boards and new toys.

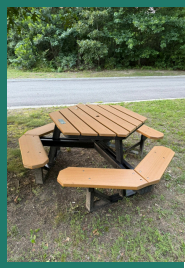

Support appreciation events to thank our hardworking library staff.

Commission library beautification projects, such as the Midlothian mural and North Courthouse Road picnic tables and benches.
